

● 4. The Children Can Fly ●

Wendy wanted to know more about this interesting boy.

"How old are you?" asked Wendy.

"I don't know," said Peter. "But I am quite young. I ran away the day I was born. I didn't want to grow up, you see."

Wendy was very surprised.

"But where did you go?" asked Wendy.

"I went to live with the fairies for a long time," said Peter.

Wendy asked lots of questions about fairies and Peter told her about the beginning of the fairies.

"Fairies come from babies' laughs," he told her. "But children don't believe in fairies any more. They know too much."

He looked for Tinker Bell, and she flew to him. When Wendy saw the fairy, she was amazed. She wanted to talk to Tinker Bell, but Tinker Bell didn't like Wendy. She didn't want to be friends. She flew into the bathroom.
